

République Algérienne Démocratique et Populaire

Ministère de L'Enseignement Supérieur et de La Recherche Scientifique

Université Abbès Laghrou –Khenchela-

Faculté des Lettres et des Langues

Département des Lettres et Langue françaises

Contrôle S II Module : Anglais 2^{ème} Année (G1-2-3)

Text:

The global importance of the English language transcends linguistic boundaries and has become a unifying force in our interconnected world. Its influence extends across education, business, technology, diplomacy, and culture, shaping the lives of millions around the globe.

In education, English is the universal language of learning and knowledge dissemination. It serves as the medium of instruction in many prestigious universities and institutions worldwide. English proficiency is essential for students aspiring to access a vast pool of educational resources, engage with international scholars, and pursue higher studies abroad. It not only opens doors to a diverse range of academic opportunities but also fosters cross-cultural learning and collaboration.

The business landscape has been profoundly impacted by the prominence of English. In the era of globalization, English has emerged as the primary language of international commerce and trade. Multinational corporations, global supply chains, and international business transactions rely on English for communication and documentation. As a result, individuals with strong English language skills have a significant advantage in the job market, as many employers seek candidates who can engage effectively with international clients and partners.

The digital revolution has further amplified the significance of English. The internet, a global platform for information sharing and communication, predominantly operates in English. Proficiency in English is essential for navigating the online world, accessing digital resources, and participating in global online communities. English also plays a crucial role in the development of cutting-edge technology, with most programming languages, software, and technical documentation being in English.

In diplomacy and international relations, English serves as the language of communication and negotiation. It is the medium through which countries discuss global issues, forge alliances, and draft international agreements. Diplomats and representatives from diverse linguistic backgrounds rely on English to engage in meaningful dialogues on matters of global significance, promoting peaceful cooperation and understanding.

Beyond its utilitarian value, English plays a pivotal role in fostering cultural exchange and appreciation. It provides access to literature, films, music, and art from diverse cultures. People worldwide can explore and immerse themselves in the rich tapestry of global cultures, broadening their horizons and promoting tolerance and multiculturalism.

In conclusion, the importance of the English language is deeply ingrained in our modern society. It transcends national borders and empowers individuals to participate in a globalized world. Proficiency in English enhances educational and career prospects, facilitates cross-cultural communication, and enriches lives through exposure to diverse perspectives. Embracing the English language is not merely a skill; it is a key that unlocks a world of opportunities and connections in our ever-evolving global landscape.

Questions: Read the text carefully then answer these questions:

1- Give a title to this text?

2-How English Language has impacted our evolving global landscape of our interconnected world? Answer through summarized points.

3- Use the appropriate vocabulary of the text to give a meaningful and a significant definition to "cross-cultural communication".

4-Take from the text 03 expressions which deals with the idea of: "culture as medium".

5-Find in the text synonyms of: "diverse backgrounds"- "pivotal"- "boundaries"- "empowers"- "English language skills".

6-Summarize the text in a meaningful paragraph of 6 lines.

GOOD LUCK